Our Facility: an exercise in quality.

Plating is a complicated multi-step process that results in an authentic top-end metal finish. Portland Willamette is the only glass fireplace door company with an in-house metal plating facility. This means that we do not have to rely on outside vendors to meet our high standard for quality. We offer everything from modern brushed nickel to traditional hand applied oil rubbed bronze. When you compare our product to the competition there just isn't a comparison.

For over 60 years PW has been the acknowledged industry leader in fireplace enclosures. PW, as it's known in the trade, seamlessly combines traditional metalworking technique with the latest manufacturing technology. For the best in engineering, design and finish options look no further than Portland Willamette. Family owned and operated, PW has never been in a better position to provide you with the service and quality you expect.
